

Easter Hat Is High Point of Ensemble

by Helen Hennessy
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — As always, the Easter bonnet will be the most talked-of item among all the finery. And more definitely than in past seasons hats will top the total look. New millinery designs are based on closer co-ordination than in previous springs with head-to-toe fashion.

Fashion has taken a feminine turn and so the flower hat again finds its niche. This time it is done chiefly in snood shapes and often the flowers bloom on a background of stiff mesh.

Turbans of silk, chiffon and organdy will add their softness to the Easter scene, many in contrasting colors, others in prints.

Sailors and rollers, so right for a sunny Sunday in April, will be big on the Avenue. Brims of all sizes will crop up. And many of the new sailors will be done in combinations of straw and fabric.

New in the fashion parade will be head-hugging cha-peaux with removable brims and hats with open crowns.

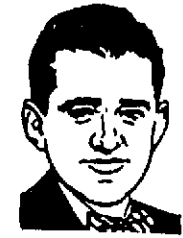

Colors cover all the rainbow hues with navy, beige and chic black and white tossed in for good measure.

The hat that tops your Easter ensemble will be soft and young looking—the perfect touch to complement a smart costume.

The Easter bonnet is a most beguiling item of feminine frippery in any Easter parade and this year there is a wide choice of styles. An exciting profile fly-away brim (upper left) by Lilly Dache has a perky bow accent. The overall scattering of leaves and gardenias brings a new treatment of flowers to stiffened mesh stand-away snood by Miss Mary (upper right). The "op art" trend is deftly applied by Adolfo (lower left) by use of felt over straw with polka dot cut-outs. Contrast of black and white highlight this softly draped open crown organdy turban (lower right) by Sally Victor.

Brando Leaves It Up to Charlie

By DICK KLEINER, Hollywood Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA)

Marlon Brando was battling a cold, so his dressing room was hot. Still he wrapped himself in an overcoat and scarf over the tuxedo he was wearing for his work in Charlie Chaplin's "A Countess from Hong Kong."

"I feel kind of dull in the head," he said, but he didn't talk dull in the head.

He talked about his past and his future, and every Brando admirer should be pleased with his analysis of himself.

"In the past," he said, "I haven't paid enough attention to the parts I took. And I've made one flop after another. From now on, things will be different. I hope."

He sneezed and clutched his overcoat tighter about him.

"You know," he said, "sometimes I have had to take parts for the money. I've been under the gun, with bills to pay, responsibilities to meet. So I take whatever is available at the time, whatever pays the most money."

HE SAYS HE HAS NO GREAT YEN to return to the stage.

"Thinking about the stage," he says, "is only a nostalgic Valentine. Motion pictures are a better way to make a living—movies are my trade. I'm in a trade, that's all."

Brando says he is thoroughly enjoying the experience of working with Charlie Chaplin. He has, he says, placed himself completely in Chaplin's hands, because he trusts his artistic sensitivity.

"It's a relief," he says, "to have a director who knows what it's all about. He pays attention to every little detail."

"Once he told me my shoelaces were tied wrong. Another time we were doing a scene in which I had to wave cigar smoke away from my face. He stopped it—'Don't wave with two fingers,' he said, 'wave with four fingers.'"

OUTSIDE, ON THE MAIN SET, Sophia Loren was watching the action. She was wearing the evening gown designed for her by Dior for the picture—white, simple, low cut. For the sake of either modesty or temperature control—or perhaps a bit of both—she had a red knitted shawl around her shoulders.

"I like to watch them shoot even when I am not in the scene," she said. "Except I don't want to make the other actors nervous."

Her English is perfect and there is even a trace of a British accent to her speech patterns.

That may be one reason she loves to work in London. Another reason is that Sophia's main extra-curricular passion is dancing, and she belongs to a private club here and every Friday night she steps out.

LIKE BRANDO, SHE IS FINDING the experience of working with Charlie Chaplin delightful. The previous day, I watched her shoot a scene in a ship's stateroom. She was supposedly fixing her hair, and the camera was her mirror. As usual, Chaplin acted out what he wanted her to do first.

Sophia—and everyone else—laughed as the white-haired man suddenly became a girl, primping with exaggerated gestures in front of the mirror.

"He is so funny," she said. "But I had never seen him as a girl. It was only in the last few years, when some of his movies were on television, that I first saw him. He is marvelous."

This is her second comedy in a row, and now she wants a change of pace. Next on her always-busy agenda is a fairy tale, "Once upon a Time." She says this will be the first time she will be in a picture that children can see.

Daddies will automatically like it.

Rick Is Looking for a Job

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Even though Rick Nelson has not been out of work for 17 of his 25 years, he has trouble getting a job.

Rick, the junior member of the fantastically successful The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet, the ABC-TV series which is calling it quits at the end of this season, after 11 years on the television network and six on radio. He hopes he won't have as much trouble getting acting assignments in movies as he has had recently.

"I would like a dramatic part," handsome Rick said on a visit to New York with his wife, Kris. "But it's tough to convince producers that I can handle that kind of role. After all these years, I think I have learned something."

The first film Rick made was "Rio Bravo," in which he did a good job. "I know they had a tough time talking Howard Hawks, the director, into using me, but they finally did. I don't see where it's taking too much of a chance to cast me. It's easier for me to do a character and more fun than it is playing myself, as I do on the show."

Rick is a soft-spoken, gentle and completely unassuming young man of simple tastes who likes nothing better than to pull out a photo of his two-year-old daughter Tracy and show it around. (She is a darling, with huge eyes and blonde hair.) He says he is completely happy in show business.

"I have always liked it. After a time it becomes a part of your life and you don't even think about it. If Tracy wants to be an actress, that's all right. But we'll let her decide, the way David and I did it. We asked the folks to be on their radio show. They didn't force it. I remember my first line—Hi Mom, Hi Pop."

The Nelsons, Rick and Kris

After 450 episodes of a television series, which is the equivalent of 150 feature films, and a highly successful singing and recording career, Rick is obviously able to handle much more than that in the way of dialogue. He hopes some producer will shortly recognize the fact.

Count James Coburn as another actor lost to television.

Not too many seasons back, Coburn was one of the best villains around. He made guest appearances on nearly all the series, making life tough for the series' regular and generally out-acting him. He was even a regular in a show called Klondike.

"I never signed for that series. I just did a few shows, then became a running character. The original concept had me as a running bad man and there was great reaction.

musician and my early training was in that direction. But when I was at Los Angeles City College, after Army service, I took a class in directing to make up points. They asked me to be in some scenes there and I found myself developing a serious attitude over the evolution of character. I studied both acting and directing with Jeff Corey, but found I was making more headway as an actor."

Young Adults Need Facts About Medicare

Yes, They Are Shorter

Medicare (the current enrollment deadline is March 31) touches the lives of millions of younger adults and not just those 65 and over who are eligible.

This is a factor many overlook when discussing this program. Too much of the literature about the government insurance program is aimed at the person 65 and older. It is just as important that the children of senior citizens understand Medicare thoroughly.

Why should they be concerned? Because many children do aid their parents or aging relatives financially. In fact, nearly 25 per cent of all over-65 insurance policies are paid for by the children of the insured, according to the Continental Casualty Co., the leading national private insurer of older persons. Even with Medicare, which the government estimates will cover at least 50 per cent of medical expenses of the person over 65, the remaining 50 per cent falls to the elderly or to those who assist them financially.

Aileen The younger adults then need to know what Medicare does and does not provide. In a sense this is a guide to planning ahead anticipating medical and health care expenses.

For example, it is vital for younger people to understand the benefits provided under Part B of Medicare. This is the voluntary supplementary health insurance program. Under Part B, senior citizens can obtain, for a $3 monthly premium, insurance covering most doctors' and surgeons' bills, dental surgery, some diagnostic tests and other benefits. The insurance firm urges children to advise parents to enroll.

If the 65 and older person fails to enroll March 31, he must wait until October, 1967. If he fails to enroll then, he is no longer eligible for Part B.

For a younger person to discuss Medicare with a parent or older in-law, it is wise to be armed with information on what Medicare provides and doesn't provide.

For example, hospitalization is limited to 90 days for a spell of illness and the patient pays the first $40 of hospitalization and $10 a day after 60 days.

Other points to study

- When and for how long does Medicare cover nursing home care?
- When are prescription drugs covered?
- Should the person 65 and older with Medicare carry additional over-65 health insurance?

Italian designers in '66 reach an extreme with this "little girl" look model.

This ruffled number big in 1929, left a lot of knee on view.

This costume, seen at England's Ascot Races in 1928, took a slightly lower view on hem length.

A modest line, showing the knee but not baring it, was fashionable in 1927, date of this sport outfit.

A 1966 New York design holds the same line—merely a peck of knee.

New Plastic Gives Shine to Fashion

By BAILEY URBAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Suddenly women are glowing in the dark, shining in the rain and dancing the frog in dresses that look like everything from sandwich wrap to elephant hide.

The beaches this summer will be dotted with lasses in waterproof bikinis, topped by see-through jackets.

The material they wear is vinyl, a chameleon-like plastic that has given a new shine to fashion.

Production of all types of vinyl shot up from 46 million yards in 1963 to 75 million yards last year. Output for 1966 is projected at 95 million yards.

For years, the chemical companies have been turning out vinyl for automobile seat covers, wallpaper, radio casings and stickum shelving paper. But it cracked, felt stiff, held heat. And no one was about to cut up the upholstery for a shirt. About three years ago "expanded" vinyl came from the research laboratories.

In the expanded vinyl the glossy face was laminated to an infinitesimal layer of vinyl foam and given a soft knitted backing.

Characteristics of the old vinyl discouraged profit-minded raincoat makers from trying the new materials. But Paris fashion houses recognized its potential.

Courreges liked its drapability and came up with a white vinyl ball gown. Dior turned out a stretch vinyl ski suit.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Maybe They Meant Well
Dear Helen: If I had seen the following situation on a television show I might have found it amusing. Since it really happened to me last night it's anything but. Here goes:

My two-year-old has always detested her bath. She not only cries, but screams at the top of her lungs until it's over.

Last night this same thing happened but this time two different neighbors alerted the superintendent that not only one but both my children were screaming in terror. They went so far as to imply that they were left alone — or worse. The super's wife was on her way over here with a passkey just as my husband came home and she informed him about the two calls.

Naturally he ran in her almost sick with apprehension. . . . And found only my daughter screaming.

My neighbors may have meant up a storm in the bathtub, well, but couldn't they have called me, not the superintendent? Really, I don't leave my children alone nor do I beat them.

Should I just forget the whole thing or must I satisfy everyone's curiosity by posting signs all over the place, "Screams due to baby's bath. Don't panic." And who would believe me, anyway — Grateful For Real Friend

Dear GFRF: Might be a good idea. Now that's over and you can finally laugh about the incident (can't you?), by not get the heart of the matter and find out what makes bathing a dirty word to your baby. Re-educate her to like water by letting her discover it for herself — perhaps by paddling in the sink or dipping her toes into a half-filled bucket. Somewhere along the line she's been frightened and the time is overdue to start changing fright to delight. — H.

Dear Helen: You listed what men should contribute to marriage. How about giving some of the old-fashioned feminine wiles which lure him into a more active role in the house? Here is my story:

Feminine wiles were the last things my direct and honest self could employ; but my daughter taught me before she was three that her father enjoyed being consoled by the ladies of the house. Now I am learning to pour on the flattery, all the while wondering how he can stand it; and yet something wonderful is happening in return.

He is so much more relaxed that he is paying ME compliments both directly and indirectly, and our children sense the change in our relationship.

Our daughter taught ME, and I am trying to make it plain to our sons what I expect from their father and what their wife can expect from them to make their own lives happier. They see that kindness is the last frontier and some honest blarney makes the world a nicer place.

We go out of our way to greet the man of our house with enthusiastic love to thank him for small favors and big ones. Like new shoes. At Christmas we write him to thank him for the goodness during the year — for things we take for granted most of the time. We are grateful for his love that is symbolized by the furnace going on in the middle of the night and the car having good brakes. My adored husband is happy to receive these letters; but how

Congress Has Started the Easter Season

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress starts its Easter recess today after approving the food-for-india program and a two-month extension in signups for doctors' bills insurance under Medicare.

In a big pre-holiday push Wednesday, the House also passed a 2.9-per cent pay raise for 1.8 million federal workers and two major money bills totaling $8.3 billion to finance activities of the Treasury, Post Office and Interior Departments in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Senate was busy approving President Johnson's proposal to transfer the Community Relations Service, which mediates civil rights disputes, of the Commerce to the Justice Department.

After recessing today the House will be off until April 18. The Senate plans to come back April 13 for debate — but no immediate action — on Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment to modify the Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

Many congressmen will take advantage of the recess to return home to feel the public pulse on such matters as Viet Nam, government spending and inflation, and to get in a bit of campaigning for November's congressional elections.

But six senators and seven representatives plus staff members and wives plan to spend the holiday in Australia — with stops also in Honolulu, New Zealand and perhaps Tahiti.

Goethe had begun the second part of his "Faust" as a young man and worked on its completion for more than 50 years.

Stockholders gave their approval in Detroit Wednesday to dropping the "girl" from the title.

Judge About Ready to Rule on Braves

Fights Last Night

MILWAUKEE (AP)—White-haired Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller sealed himself in his court chambers Thursday night as he debated the fate of baseball and the Braves in Wisconsin's antitrust trial.

An armed deputy sheriff, wearing a sport shirt, stood in front of the judge's chambers. "He said not even to let his nearest relative in," said the deputy.

Roller has said he hopes to hand down a verdict Saturday or Sunday.

Wisconsin, accusing the National League of violating the state's laws against monopolies, has asked that the Braves be returned from Atlanta or that Milwaukee be given an expansion team. The Braves are scheduled to open the 1966 season in Atlanta next Tuesday.

The 38-day trial ended Wednesday. Judge Roller indicated he might eat and sleep in his chambers until he finishes writing his ruling.

"You can't let this thing go on," he said. "You've got to keep it until the decision is out."

On the other hand, he refused to commit himself on whether he would remain in his chambers through the night.

"Why don't you come up to night at 3 a. m. and see if there is a light in the window?" the judge said Thursday afternoon.

A lone light showed through the window late Thursday night, but the chambers were dark by 1 a. m. today.

Foss Due to Go Out as AFL Chief

HOUSTON (AP)—The American Football League met today under a cloud of unconfirmed rumors that had Oakland Coach Al Davis succeeding Joe Foss as commissioner veteran Houston quarterback George Blanda becoming the head coach of a new Chicago team.

The reports came in rapid-fire succession Wednesday night after it was revealed that the league's nine owners and Foss were assembled here for a scheduled — but unannounced — executive committee meeting at which expansion was one of the items on the agenda.

AFL officials meanwhile, would not comment on the reports which said:

— Foss, the league's only commissioner since its inception in 1960, would announce his resignation, possibly to resume his political career.

— I Foss were to leave his job, he would be succeeded by Davis, the 36-year-old head coach and general manager of the Raiders who has made the Oakland club one of the most respected teams in the club.

— Chicago will become the league's 10th franchise and begin operations in the 1967 season, taking the AFL into territory now held by the rival National Football League.

— Blanda, who played with the Chicago Bears of the NFL before joining the Oilers, would be named the head coach of the Thaff's Chicago entry.

Holdout Is Sold to Kansas City

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Ralph Terry, who was the last major league holdout with the Cleveland Indians, now has to bargain with the Kansas City Athletics for a 1966 contract.

The Indians sold the 30-year-old right-hander to the Athletics Wednesday for $25,000 and southpaw John O'Donoghue. Terry had refused to sign for the $31,000 offered by Indians' President Gabe Paul and wanted $38,000.

O'Donoghue, from the A's training camp in Bradenton, Fla., said the trade came as a "big surprise."

Terry was reportedly in Minneapolis on a business trip when the trade was announced and could not be reached for comment. Terry's wife, Tanya, said from their home in Larned, Kan., that she talked to him on the phone and "he seemed happy."

The Athletics said Ed Lopat, the club's executive vice president, would start negotiations immediately.

Terry was 11-6 with the Tribe last year.

Phils Win One But Celtics Confident

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"Well, we still have the edge," said Boston Celtics' Coach Red Auerbach.

"And we're still the underdog any way you look at it," said Dolph Schayes, coach of the Philadelphia 76ers.

These were almost the hottest post-mortem comments as the two coaches surveyed the results of Thursday night's 111-105 Philadelphia victory, its first in the finals of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

It cut the Celts' lead to 2-1 in the best-of-seven series that will be resumed Sunday in Boston.

That's how it stands also in the NBA's Western Division where the Los Angeles Lakers have the 2-1 edge over St. Louis with the next game Saturday night in St. Louis.

Schayes, whose 76ers beat Boston six out of 10 in regular season play, said he feels Philadelphia "finally has come out of its slump, but —" and he paused for emphasis.

"You can't take these Celtics for granted. We've got to fight every game every inch of the way."

Schayes was right about that, especially as he pointed out that his 76ers almost blew a 24-point first half lead — it melted to one point at 100-99 — before Philadelphia's bread-and-butter guys, 7-foot-11 Wilt Chamberlain and outside shooter Hal Greer began swishing them through in the final five minutes.

Chamberlain came through superbly, collecting 31 points and grabbing 27 of Philadelphia's 69 rebounds. Greer's point total of 19 was below his average, but he got nine of them in the last seven minutes. Chamberlain scored five of his points with just four minutes left.

John Havlicek was high for Boston with 27 and Sam Jones had 25.

Couple of Rich Races on Tap for Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A $10,000 race and another worth only $7,500 head Saturday's thoroughbred racing program even though the agenda calls for a couple of $50,000-added affairs. And the reasons are Graustark, the long-legged unbeaten colt, and Moccasin, the undefeated filly.

The two 3-year-olds will be seen in action in separate six furlong sprints at the opening of Keeneland's spring meeting at Lexington, Ky.

Moccasin, winner of eight races, makes her 1966 debut in the $10,000 Beaumont Purse. Graustark, victorious in three starts last year and two this season before being sidelined with a heel injury two months ago, returns to action in the $7,500 Whitney.

Graustark is the short priced favorite for the May 7 running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. Moccasin also is eligible for the Derby but A. B. Hancock, owner of the daughter of Nantallah, said Thursday he wants no part of Graustark in the Derby if the Derby Dan ace is 100 per cent fit.

Both are such strong favorites that there probably will be no betting on their races. And the day's feature, the $20,000-added Phoenix Handicap, may also go unnoticed.

Bay Phantom, a real swift, is the likely choice for the six furlongs of the Phoenix with swift opposition coming from Swift Ruler and Alphabet, a stablemate of Moccasin.

Not more than six are expected in the Excelsior but the sex includes R. Thomas and Cupid, who ran one-two in last Saturday's Westchester at one mile, and First Family, surprise winner of the recent Gulfstream Park Handicap. R. Thomas has been assigned top weight of 19 pounds, two more than Cupid and four more than First Family.

Wheatley Stable's Queen Empress, 2-year-old filly champion of 1964 and highly rated among the 3-year-olds misses last year, figures to be the favorite in a field of 14 in the Barbara Fritchie. Under 123 pounds she'll give two the another former champion, Tosmah, Palm Court and Summer Scandal.

Gulfstream Park and Golden Gate fields each feature $15,000-added races.

Despite top weight of 127 pounds, Mrs. Charles F. Parker's Pollux likely will be the favorite in the 1-16 miles of the Fort Lauderdale Handicap at Gulfstream.

Golden Gate's headline is the Gold Rush at one mile for 3-year-olds training for the April 22 renewal of the $75,000-added California Derby.

Atlanta Fans Get Look at the Yankees

ATLANTA (AP)—Atlanta baseball fans, new to the ranks of the major leagues, get their first look tonight at traditionally the most awesome team in baseball — the New York Yankees.

Anticipation and excitement in this Deep South city was best summed up in this newspaper headline:

"The Yankees Are Coming."

The Yankees have played exhibition games here before when Atlanta was a minor league city, but the three-game series beginning tonight marks the first time the Bronx Bombers are truly invaders taking on the hometown major league team, the Braves.

The Braves wound up their Florida Grapefruit League competition Thursday with a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators in 16 innings while the Yankees were tripping the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3.

The Yankees will start rookie Fritz Peterson tonight and Bob Friend Saturday night. The Braves will start Ken Johnson, Denny Lemaster and Hank Fischer in the three games.

Grambling Sweeps a Twin Bill

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Grambling College swept a baseball doubleheader from Arkansas AM&N here Thursday, winning 12-5 and 6-3.

Soph Dickey Scores Pair of Touchdowns

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Sophomore David Dickey scored two touchdowns Thursday as the Arkansas Razorbacks wound up the pre-Easter segment of spring football practice.

The Porkers, defending Southwest Conference champions, take a 10-day Easter recess.

Dickey, a tailback, scored on runs of two and 15 yards, both off tackle. Most of the plays during the one hour and 15-minute scrimmage were run through the middle.

Quarterback John Eichle of Stuttgart added a third touchdown on a two-yard run and Steve Miltz kicked a 25-yard field goal and three extra points.

Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks were "so green defensively it's hard to get a good comparison between the offense and the defense."

He said he thought the whole squad was making progress and said he was pleased with the team's effort.

Women's Wrightman Team Picked

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Billie Jean Moffit King of Alhambra, Calif., Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Carole Gaebne of Beachwood, Ohio, Jane Albet of Peblee Beach, Calif., and May Ann Eisel of St. Louis were selected Thursday as the 1966 U.S. Wrightman Cup tennis team.

The five, picked by Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Chadds Ford, Pa., the Wrightman Cup chairman, will defend the international cup against England at Wimbledon, England, June 10-11.

Margaret Varner of Chadds Ford, former team coach, was named nonplaying captain of the team. She was succeeded as coach by Doris Hart of Miami, Fla.

Nobody Notices Reds' Johnny Edwards

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Olderman

TAMPA, Fla. (NEA)—Historically, guys like John Edwards are assigned to obscurity automatically for volunteering to catch. I mean, who in his right mind would choose to wear the so-called "tools of ignorance"—mask, pads, shin guards—and do deep knee bends on a hot day in the sun?

"Those tools of ignorance," retorts Edwards, "are a bit of a misnomer. We need 'em because we get a lot of foul tips."

Which right away tags young Mr. Edwards of the Cincinnati Reds as a practical man. It was tough to pick him out from the bevy of Redlegs in all attitudes of repose on the grass of Lopez Field. Young Mr. Edwards was sitting on a folding chair in right field. Smart, too, see?

The No. 6 on his uniform identified him. In the ritual of spring training, almost nobody pays any attention to the catcher. Pitcher Jim Maloney—he makes $50,000 a year and so you recognize his curly blond hair—was sitting on a folding chair in right field. Smart, too, see?

When John Edwards—snub-nosed, moon-faced, nondescript—comes out from behind his mask, he's seldom recognized. The irony is that on a contending club, new Manager Don Heckner has spent the spring juggling every position in the infield and outfield, but hasn't touched Edwards. Because he probably is the best receiver in baseball right now. All factors considered—youth, defense, speed, hitting. "All right, Atlanta might want to argue that one, citing Joe Torre."

"The catcher," says Edwards, "is more or less like the quarterback on a pro football team. He calls the signals."

"We're right there where we can see every play. We're calling all the pitches, and we're more or less in charge of running the ball game."

Well, I can show you a lot of people who heard of John Unitas but couldn't distinguish John Edwards from a chemical engineer. Maybe this tells a lot about how baseball and football operate.

The truth is, John Edwards is also an engineer, a graduate of Ohio State, and in the four months he's free from the Reds, he's a rising young executive with General Electric in their nuclear material and jet propulsion laboratory. He has top secret clearance in the winter and is a security risk like every common John in the summer because Edwards treats catching as a full-time job.

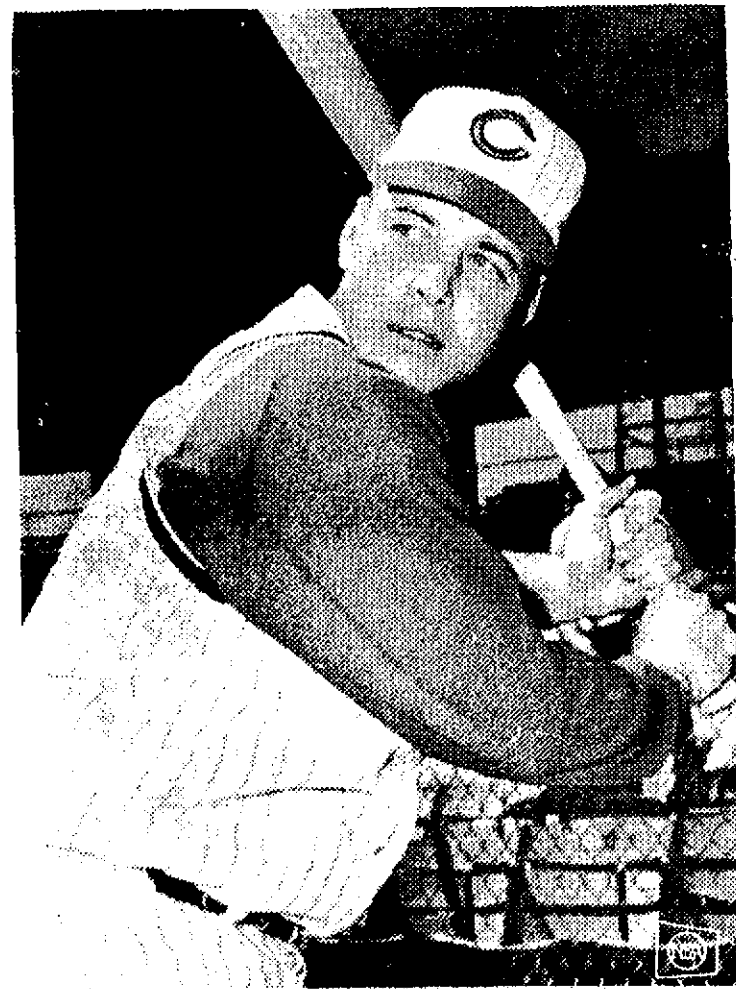

Edwards points out that the days when a catcher squatted and signalled one finger for a fast ball, two for a curve, are gone.

He may still designate the fast ball with one digit but then he curls it under to indicate, for instance, that he wants the ball on the high inside corner of the plate. He varies the target area by watching the traits of the batter, who may alter his position in the batter's box during the course of a game. These nuances make the catcher a thinking man. "I designate the location of every pitch," he says. "—high, low, inside or outside."

Of course, it occurs to a skeptic that some pitchers might be nearsighted and not see which way the finger is curled. "Then," says Edwards, "they should get glasses." In 1960, the year before he came up to the Reds, Edwards and Maloney formed a brilliant minor league battery for Nashville.

"Only," notes John, "I used to have my doubts about Jim at night. I'd signal and he'd nod. Then I'd sit back and wait for a curve and he'd throw a fast ball that almost took my head off. It was no fun."

Fortunately, Maloney, who also moved to the Reds in '61, was persuaded to wear contact lenses when he pitched. Otherwise, even the tools of ignorance might not have kept a smart young man like John Edwards in the target area.

Beliveau and Hull Heroes in Hockey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Big Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens and Bobby Hull, the Chicago Black Hawks' Blond Bomber, were hockey heroes in their hometowns today after sending their teams into the leads in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup semifinals.

Beliveau, named the outstanding player during Montreal's winning Cup performance last year, scored with 2:12 left to play and gave the Canadiens a 4-3 victory over Toronto in their opening game at the Montreal Forum Thursday night.

Hull, who scored a record-breaking 54 goals the past regular season, produced the pivotal goal in the Hawks' 2-1 triumph over Detroit in their first semifinal game in Chicago Stadium.

Beliveau beat Toronto goalie Terry Sawchuk at 17:48 of the final period after Claude Provost's shot had been blocked by a Toronto defenseman.

Bob Pulford had pulled the Leaf even midway through the third period when his 50-foot slap shot zipped past the right shoulder of Gump Worsley in the Canadiens' nets.

J. C. Tremblay, John Ferguson and Bobby Rousseau scored the other Montreal goals while Eddie Shack and Frank Mahovlich also registered for the Leafs.

Toronto thought it had scored the tying goal with only 10 seconds left in the game when Dave Keon put the puck in the net. However, the officials ruled that Keon was offside on the play.

Hull's goal came on a power play midway in the first period. He took a pass from Chico Maki and deftly sent it past Detroit netminder Roger Crozier.

The tally lifted Hull to within four of the league record total of goals counting regular season and playoffs. Beliveau set the mark in 1955-56 when he scored 47 in season and 12 in the Cup competition.

Ken Wharram sent the Hawks in front of the Wings at 6:08 of the opening session. Hull's goal made it 2-0 and Detroit's Dean Prentice wrapped up the scoring with a power-play marker with 1:30 remaining in the first period.

The second games in the best-of-seven series will be played in Montreal Saturday night and in Chicago Sunday afternoon. The Wings-Hawks tilt will be televised nationally by NBC starting at 2:30 p.m., EST.

Q—I recently developed small bumps on the palms of both hands. My doctor says I have Dupuytren's contracture but he did not recommend any treatment. Would ultrasound help?
A—Dupuytren's contracture is a slowly progressing hereditary disease that starts with the tumors you describe on the palms. As the disease progresses the fingers are gradually pulled toward the palm and cannot be straightened out. This is due to a thickening of the strong fibrous sheath (palmar fascia) which lies between the skin of the palm and the tendons attached to the finger muscles.
Ultrasound, of value in some cases of bursitis, would be of no help. The only treatment is an operation in which, by careful dissection, the palmar fascia is completely removed. The operation should be performed early in the course of the disease. In many persons this gives a lasting cure but in others, through no fault of the surgeon, the condition returns.

Q—My trouble is seepage from the bladder, especially when I laugh. What can be done for it?
A—This very common and troublesome condition is known as stress incontinence. It is found chiefly in women who are over 50 and have borne several children but these factors are absent in some victims. The underlying cause is a relaxation of the pelvic support of the bladder. In addition to laughing, coughing, sneezing or straining at stool will permit an involuntary leaking of urine.

When women with this complaint can be taught to contract their pelvic muscles and repeat this many times throughout the day, these exercises may result in better control. If this does not work the only cure is surgical repair.
Q—Would the constant use of Robaxin be harmful?
A—Methocarbamol (Robaxin) is given to relieve painful muscle spasms. About 10 percent of those who take it complain of drowsiness, dizziness, blurred vision, headache, nausea and skin rash, but these usually clear up when the dosage is reduced. The drug is not habit-forming.
Q—Should a person carefully watching her cholesterol intake after a mild coronary attack, avoid nuts, particularly peanut butter?
A—The amount of cholesterol in nuts, vegetables and fruit is negligible.

Please send ye questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Just a Typical Town

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TAN AN HOL, Viet Nam—(NEA)—This is a dirty, dingy, deplorable place—crossroads to nowhere, center of nothing, a hamlet of illiterates deep in the bowels of war.
Few Americans have heard of it.

Tiede

Yet every American is affected by it.
It is Typical Town, South Viet Nam. The faceless, hard to pronounce, out-of-the-way destination for millions of tax dollars, mountains of munitions, and thousands of forfeited lives.
What is it like, this expensive town?
It is like a picture of purgatory.
It is a garbage heap of social and economic woe surrounded by American troops on one side and Viet Cong guerrillas on three others.
It is rusting rolls of barbed wire protection which protects nothing. It is bunkers at the town hall, foxholes outside the churches, and sounds of mortar bursts, sniper fire and screams in the night.
It is the home of scorpions, pythons, large brown spiders with hungry eyes, rodents which attack children, ants which attack anybody, flies the size of dimes, mosquitoes with grapping hooks, featherless chickens, hairless dogs, lizards, armadillos, bats, bed bugs, cooties and some other things without name.
So infested with vermin is it, in fact, that the children make pets of the insects. Their favorite is the cockroach, a black beetle which youngsters keep in boxes to pet, kiss, examine, trade, or, when ill or old, squash.

The shops offer a variety of goods from A to B. Mostly ice, these days, because it is inexpensive to buy and profitable to sell. GIs need it, can't get it elsewhere, thus buy it in Typical Town.
How much for ice? A soldier will ask.
"Only 180 today," a seller will grin.
"But it was 150 yesterday." You no like price, Cheap Charley, you go someplace else.
Look! Cheap Charley, Cheap Charley, Cheap.
This, indeed, is Typical Town. Home of profiteers, wanton women, ingrates and small-time shysters.
Yet it is other people, also. Town soldiers with head wounds, kids with sores the size of baseballs, young girls

But the people still have food.

roof high before settling on the open food of the markets. Vendors blow French bread clean before selling, sometimes, or, lacking breath in the heat, tap the loaves together like blackboard erasers.
The principal thoroughfare is an ox-cart road lined for a half-mile with dreary shops, noodle emporiums, houses of prostitution, and old women who spend their days picking fleas out of people's hair.
The pickers dispose of the fleas simply.
They eat them.
The shops offer a variety of goods from A to B. Mostly ice, these days, because it is inexpensive to buy and profitable to sell. GIs need it, can't get it elsewhere, thus buy it in Typical Town.

with no teeth, unwashed infants sucking diseased mothers and wives who have watched husbands go to war for 20 years.
It is a woman with an eye shot out.
A man with his foot blown off.
A boy with leprosy.
His buildings are crumbling, its laws are non-existent, its citizenry is confused.
Yet it is valuable, this town. So much so that both sides want it, need it, and have paid in blood to have it. Squallid it may be and homely and decayed, but it is the essence of this conflict, the reason, the objective and the point of the whole continuing combat.
For if it is ours, we may win this fight.
But if it isn't, we will surely lose.

Library for AM&N College
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Arthur Arney Co. of Pine Bluff submitted the apparent low bid of $451,500 Wednesday for construction of a new library building for Arkansas AM&N College.
The college also announced these low bids for construction projects on its 220-acre farm north of the main campus: Arney $43,350 for a milking parlor; Hatcher Construction Co. of Pine Bluff, $120,360 on seven general farm buildings and $23,707 on a greenhouse.

The suit preference signal usually occurs in secondary lead situations and is devised to tell partner which suit to lead back assuming he does get in. Specifically a high card calls for the higher of the two suits partner might shift to while a low card calls for the lower of the two suits available and an intermediate card, for partner to use his own judgment.

The suit preference signal is a necessary tool in the expert's kit but the expert does not go suit preference happy. He only uses a suit preference signal when it is unmistakable. He does not use it to take the place of the normal signal of high for strength or come-on and low for weakness or shift.

West opens the four of hearts against South's four spade contract. East is in with the ace and concludes that his partner has led a singleton since he is looking at the three spot in dummy and the deuce in his own hand.

He leads back a heart for his partner to ruff and the heart he leads back is the ten spot. This is clearly a high heart and a clear suit preference signal. He wants West to ruff and put him back on lead with a diamond, not a club.

If East had wanted a club return he would have led the deuce. If he had no preference he would have led the eight.

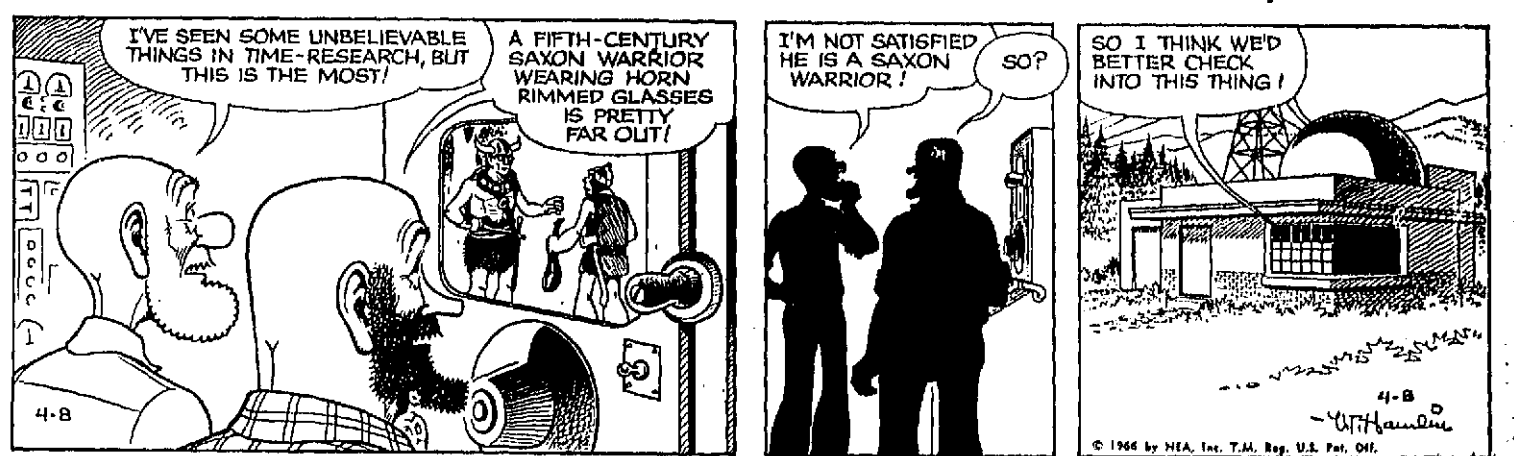

West returns a diamond. East gives him a second ruff and South has lost four tricks before getting on lead to draw trumps.

Without the suit preference signal West might still have returned a diamond but it would have been a shot in the dark. The suit preference signal insured the correct return lead.

UN Council to Meet on Rhodesia

By JAMES BLY UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The African president of the U.N. Security Council delayed compliance today with Britain's call for an urgent council meeting on Rhodesia while African members tried to agree on a strategy. Despite a sit-in demonstration by 10 of the council's 15 members to force Ambassador Mousa Keita of Mali to call a meeting Thursday night, Keita said he could not do so because he was still holding consultations. He indicated a session might not be called until Monday. Britain requested the meeting Thursday afternoon to ask for U.N. authority to use force to enforce economic sanctions against the rebel white minority regime in Rhodesia. The British wanted immediate action so they could use force

Mexican Ban on Sinatra Considered

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican disc jockeys are considering a ban on Frank Sinatra's records because of his film "Marriage on the Rocks," which the government considers insulting. Enrique Hernandez, president of the Mexican Association of Radio Announcers, said that a decision will be made next week after a private viewing of the movie. The government has banned Sinatra himself from entering Mexico and banned the movie because of scenes which it said presented a false image of a filthy Mexican border town where quick divorces and marriages were performed by a shabby mayor.

Batman and Robin Here Saturday

The most sensational entertainment in America today is "Batman and Robin" — the whole nation is talking about it. Now you can see what made it famous — Saturday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the Saenger Theater, when the original Batman and Robin Complete serial made in the movies in 1945 — twenty years ahead of its time will show.

Velda Seamans manager of the Saenger, has had so many calls from folks who had read how the showing of this full 15 chapter serial on one show was so sensational in New York that it spread to comics, radio TV and all over the nation — that she made a special effort to get this picture.

Now it is here — Saturday only on 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. showing — and then it will have one showing only for those who cannot attend a matinee at the Dixie Drive in Theatre on Sunday night.

The showing of Batman in its entirety lasts 4 hours. Young and old will have a big time as they boo the villain and cheer Batman thru its full length. Mrs. Seamans said "Batman" has been a record breaker everywhere it has been shown. We are very lucky in being able to present this one showing — as the showings have been limited — but due to a cancellation of another city due to a roadshow production, we were able to get this date for a showing of "Batman and Robin".

Children are urged to attend the 10 a.m. showing as they may want to see it twice.

Centaur Only a Partial Success

By JIM STROTHMAN

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Space agency officials combed through bundles of data today in search of why a Centaur rocket failed to properly ignite a second time Thursday night, causing a possible setback in the U.S. man-in-space program.

The failure showed that U.S. scientists have not yet proved they can tame liquid hydrogen fuel in space — a concept which this nation must realize before it can commit astronauts to go to the moon, send heavy payloads to the planets or soft-land instruments on the moon the year around.

As engineers wrestled with the problem, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration went ahead with plans today to launch an Orbiting Astronomical Observatory at 2:36 p.m. (EST). The shot has been postponed five times.

After a flawless countdown the problem-plagued Centaur — already more than three years behind schedule — thundered aloft from Cape Kennedy Thursday night.

An Atlas booster successfully propelled the hydrogen-fueled Centaur upper stage 88 miles above the earth, where the Centaur's two engines burned for 325 seconds and placed it and a dummy surveyor soft-lander moonship into a planned 100-mile-high parking orbit around the earth.

After a 25-minute coasting period in this orbit, Centaur was to have ignited a second time, dummy spacecraft to a make-believe moon 236,000 miles from earth.

Instead, NASA said, apparently only one of Centaur's two 15,000-pound-thrust engines ignited. It only burned 17 seconds and kicked both the surveyor model and the Centaur into an oval-shaped orbit of 101 to 186 miles.

Sukarno Piles Up Big Fortune

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HONG KONG (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno has piled up a personal fortune of more than $60 million in Swiss and Japanese banks, according to sources in Hong Kong with Indonesian and international banking contacts.

Although the reports are impossible to confirm here, some responsible Western experts believe them.

Much of the money was directly deposited to Sukarno's foreign bank accounts by persons buying business favors from him, sources said.

Sculptor Scorns His Rejection

OFFENBACH, Germany (AP) — Sculptor Bern Rosenheim is protesting a City Council decision rejecting his sculpture design for the new Anne Frank School in favor of one considered more optimistic.

Rosenheim, a Jew, declined the $250 second-place cash award and turned it over to charity. The council said it considered his design, showing a human form behind bars, too gloomy and deep for children.

The winning design, showing rising birds, tied with Rosenheim's entry for second place. There was no first prize. The winning design was created by Ludwig Thurn, a member of the council and of the ruling Socialist party.

The school is named for the young Jewish girl who died in a German concentration camp after she and her family hid from the Nazis in Amsterdam for two years.

Variety of Weather in the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation had a variety of weather today, with precipitation in scattered sections, fairly mild in the West and unseasonably cool again from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

A fresh surge of cold air spread from the northern Plains into the Northeast and southward. As it collided with warm air from the Gulf of Mexico in the south central region, a storm situation developed. Large hail pelted the Clarksdale, Miss., area.

In the Central Plains cold rain or snow was driven by strong northerly winds.

The Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm watch for parts of northwest Mississippi and east central Arkansas.

One inch of snow fell in a six-hour period at Alpena, Michigan and snow flurries fell across the northern Midwest to the northern and central Appalachians. However, they appeared diminishing and sunny skies were indicated by Easter Sunday.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures were expected to remain below normal over the weekend from the northern Rockies and the central Plains to the Carolinas and New England. Above normal readings were indicated west of the Rockies and in southern and central Texas.

Dry weather continued in most of the Far West with mild temperatures in the day and a little cooling at night.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 20 at Marquette, Mich., to 73 at Blythe, Calif.

ANATOMY OF HEALTH — By Dr. Charles Johnson

Anatomically, the spinal column supports the head, and the human body is built around the spine and nervous system. The spine serves as the articulation of large bones and the attachment of major muscles. Bones act as levers and fulcrums, muscles serve as pulleys and padding. However, all function must be directed and regulated. This is done through the nerve system and here again the spinal column plays a part. This anatomical fact makes the spine the key to the nerve system and, therefore, the key to health. Chiropractic teaches that falls and accidents strain the spine and frequently causes spinal subluxations that pinch nerves. This disturbs function, lowers resistance and results in disease. The 'Ten Pillars of Wisdom' Are Basis for A Truly Great Society

As federal, state and local governments seek to improve our way of life, it would be well for leaders at every level to keep in mind these "Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom" formulated by the American Economic Foundation:

1. Nothing in our material world is free; everything in our economic life has a source, a destination and a cost that must be paid.

2. Government is never a source of goods. People produce goods; the government can give only what it takes from the people.

3. The only valuable money government has to spend is that taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government spends more than it receives, money is created out of "thin air," reducing the value of all money.

4. Most payroll and employment comes from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security.

5. Customer security can only be achieved when the "boss" is allowed to operate his business so as to win and hold customer.

6. Since wages are the principal cost of everything, wage increases without production increases simply increase everybody's cost of living.

7. The greatest good for the greatest number simply means the greatest "goods" for the largest number — or greatest productivity per worker.

8. All productivity is based on three factors — Natural Resources, Human Energy (muscular and mental) and Tools.

9. Tools are the only one of these three factors man can increase; they come into being through self-denial so earnings can be invested in them.

10. The productivity of tools is the highest in a free, competitive society — not in a welfare state where individual initiative is restrained.

These basic facts of economic life must be kept in mind when evaluating proposals for more government paternalism. Our nation's development as the world's greatest power has resulted from individual responsibility — not by expecting government to solve all problems. — Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger

Women

In case many of our women readers become alarmed at the mid-decade statistics of the U. S. Census Bureau, we suggest they read the fine print. The broad figures were that there are 3,600,000 more females than males this year. Considering there was only an excess of 2,019,000 in 1960, this seems to make the outlook dismal for the girl who wants to get married. But it isn't that bad. At the most marriageable ages, there are still more men than women. The reason this situation doesn't carry over the whole age spectrum, is, of course, the fact that women live longer than men, as a rule.

This could make them much more eligible for marriage proposals. As everyone knows, they are gradually accumulating the wealth of the country. Some of them out-live two or even three well-to-do husbands. For all those reasons, we are not going to worry too much about them. — Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune

The Better Way

In 1866, one way stagecoach fare from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Coast was $200. Nowadays, $200 will buy you a first-class ticket on a coast-to-coast jet with enough left over to pay the taxi fare into town — and no Comanches to fight, either. — Anniston (Ala.) Star

Possibles Talk With Leader

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two men mentioned as possible candidates for governor this year had discussions Thursday with Gov. Orval Faubus.

James Gooch of Arkadelphia, a former U.S. attorney for Eastern Arkansas, talked with Faubus in the morning. Faubus said Gooch mentioned that he was seriously considering the race.

Later, Rep. Marion Crank of Little River County talked with the governor and afterward said he is surveying the state to determine his potential as a gubernatorial candidate.

Ship Afire But Most of 495 Aboard Saved

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard said 469 passengers and crew members were rescued today from the cruise ship Viking Princess after it was swept by fire off the eastern tip of Cuba. The ship carried a total of 485 persons.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A raging fire engulfed the cruise ship Viking Princess off the eastern tip of Cuba today and its passengers and most of the crew abandoned it to the sea.

The Coast Guard said 362 of an estimated 495 persons aboard the Miami-based luxury liner were plucked from the Atlantic by a German freighter, the Cap Nord.

"All are in good shape," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "We have not been able to determine whether there are any casualties."

"Flames are engulfing the superstructure."

At Norfolk, Va., U.S. Atlantic Fleet headquarters said the gleaming white Viking Princess carried 235 passengers and 260 crew members.

That left 135 persons unaccounted for, but a Navy spokesman said they may have been crewmen left aboard "presumably to fight the fire."

Arthur Crane, vice president of the booking agency for the ship in Miami, estimated the number of crew members at 250. He confirmed that the Princess carried 235 passengers.

It was under the command of Capt. Otto Thorsen, a veteran of 30 years at sea.

Two U.S. Navy destroyers, the Wilkenson and Owens, were reported on the scene by Atlantic Fleet Headquarters at Norfolk, Va. Three other ships were en route.

Monks Lead a Demonstration Against U.S.

By EDWIN G. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist monks led 2,000 demonstrators into the heart of Saigon tonight in the worst day of anti-American violence in seven days of rioting.

A dozen Americans were beaten, manhandled or chased by the mob.

As the column of jeering, banner-waving youths surged downtown from the Buddhist Institute in the southwestern part of the capital, fully armed government paratroopers backed away. But riot police eventually waded into the mob, lobbing tear gas grenades and scattering the demonstrators in side streets.

There, the angry youths formed knots again, and there was every indication of another night-long rampage to force the overthrow of military government.

By EDWIN G. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ramping mobs of Buddhist youths attacked three more Americans in Saigon tonight, overturned and set fire to a police jeep and tossed two dead grenades in the seventh day of antigovernment violence in South Viet Nam's capital.

Earlier in the day, some of the club-wielding youths pulled an unidentified American civilian from a taxi in front of the Buddhist Institute and beat him up. He fled with unknown injuries.

In all, five Americans have been attacked in the last 24 hours.

Tonight a mob of 500 youths assaulted two Americans, one of them a serviceman, and chased a U.S. sailor into a house near the Buddhist Institute, about a mile from downtown Saigon.

There was no word on injuries to the Americans.

While the demonstrators defied riot police, a report circulated that Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport, nerve center for U.S. and Vietnamese airpower, had been placed on a red alert, the highest state of combat readiness.

U.S. officials in Saigon were unable to confirm the report immediately.

(NEA Radio-Telephoto)

CRITICISM SILENCED—Fury of Saigon rioters turned on a critical voice from the sidelines with sacking of a newspaper. The paper sided with neither the government nor opposition Buddhists, but had commented critically on the youth of demonstrators.

Guy Grigg in Race for County Judge

Guy Grigg, well known Hope man, today announced as a candidate for Hempstead County Judge.

Two years ago he sought political office for the first time and ran a strong third in a field of five candidates for the office. "At that time I only asked for consideration, but this time I am seeking your vote and your support," Mr. Grigg emphasized.

"I feel that I can render a service to the people of Hempstead County that heretofore has not been given," said Mr. Grigg. For example here are a few things he has in mind:

1. Greater utilization of the coliseum at Fair Park by improving the physical facilities and expanding it into a real convention hall for numerous south-west Arkansas conventions and entertainment activities. I would like to see Hope as a convention city for all southwest Arkansas.

2. To support and work closely with the new Red River Vocational Technical School in any capacity that will help develop the city and county, and to be alert and lend support to industrial expansion that is bound to come.

3. Since this county is already included in the Ozark program to support this federal program in the development of the county.

4. To improve all county roads by seeking federal grants to U. S. Mail routes, school bus routes, as well as continued aid from the state and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

5. An expanded health program, especially at the county nurse level.

Mr. Grigg said he felt qualified for the office. He attended Magnolia A. & M. College, now Southern State, where he studied engineering and mechanical art. He has been a resident of Hope 22 years.

In July, 1941, Mr. Grigg was one of the first men hired by the contractor to begin construction of the Southwestern Proving Ground, in the capacity of building superintendent for various buildings and roads.

After the close of the war, he was retained by the U. S. Army Engineers to maintain the installation until its final disposal by the War Assets Administration. He helped secure the 755-acre airport and other properties for the City of Hope.

Since 1951 he has owned and operated Grigg's Decorator Supply on Main Street.

He has long been active in civic and church affairs, and is a member of Hope's First Baptist Church, serving as a deacon, assistant choir director, and in other capacities. In 1965 he served as president of Hope Kiwanis club, and at the present time is a director and vice-president of Hope Chamber of Com-

Unexpected But Welcome Rains Come

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unexpected, but welcomed rains moved into Arkansas late Thursday night, lessening forest fire hazards in some sections and helping build needed ground moisture for spring crops.

The rains were brought on by the collision of warm and cold fronts, the U.S. Weather Bureau said. The showers will sweep eastward and move out of the state tonight, it added.

Up until 6 a.m. today, rain amounts generally were less than one-quarter inch. Fayetteville had .15 inch, Harrison .10, Walnut Ridge .08 and Fort Smith, Memphis and Pine Bluff each a trace.

The bureau predicted cooler weather for the state with the passing of the rains. It said low temperatures tonight will range from 30 north to the 40s south. Maximum daytime temperatures mostly in the 60s were predicted for Saturday.

Scattered frost was predicted for North Arkansas.

Maximum temperatures Thursday ranged from 67 degrees at Harrison to 83 degrees at Texarkana and El Dorado. Overnight low readings ranged from 42 degrees at Harrison to 56 degrees at Pine Bluff and Texarkana.

Reveals Plot to Assassinate Sen. Fulbright

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A scheme to poison ambassadors to the United Nations and a short-lived plot to assassinate Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., were related by the Kansas City Star in a copyrighted story.

The newspaper said a former aide in the Minutemen organization, Jerry Milton Brooks, has been subpoenaed to testify before a federal grand jury on April 22 and the grand jury may hear at that time of the plots.

The organization has been investigated by a Jackson County grand jury and DePugh is awaiting trial on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and illegal possession of bombs and bombshells. He is free on $2,000 bond.

The subpoena for Brooks was issued by Calvin Hamilton, assistant U.S. attorney. Hamilton had no comment on the purpose of the subpoena or the grand jury.

Brooks, 36, who defected from the Minutemen and lives in Kansas City, subsequently went to the office of Lawrence F. Gephord, Jackson County prosecutor and on one occasion, the Star said, dictated an assigned a 70-page statement on the Minutemen.

Gephord was out of the city and could not be reached for comment.

Johnson, who flew here from his ranch home to sign a bill extending the signum period for the voluntary part of medicare for the elderly, made his announcement in a speech at the outdoor ceremony.

Besides pledging to seek across-the-board boosts in Social Security payments to 21 million Americans, Johnson disclosed that Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner has been ordered "to create plans for a new program to assist in financing dental service for young children."

Asserting that "medicare need not be just for people over 65," the President said the dental aid would be for children under the age of 6.

White House sources said no decision had been made on whether the dental program would benefit all children or just those from low-income families.

Johnson, home in Texas for Easter and bustling with energy, flew the 60 miles from his ranch to San Antonio to sign the medicare bill and attend Good Friday services at an 18th century cathedral.

Calls for Probe of Secret Pay Hikes to Highway Dept.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Republican state Sen. Jim Raney asked the Legislative Auditing Committee today for a full-scale investigation of controversial secret salary increases in the Highway Department.

"I just want to know the truth and all I've heard is a lot of double-talk," Raney said in presenting his request to Committee Chairman Sterling Cockrill Jr.

Raney asked for a special meeting of the committee. Cockrill said he would not call one and suggested that the matter be handled at the committee's regular meeting April 22 in Washington, Ark.

Cockrill said that 10 committee members could request a special meeting and Raney indicated he would seek such a request.

Faubus said they were illegal and that employees who had benefitted would have to refund the money they received.

The raises totaled 3,000 of 3,500 Highway Department employees, according to spokesmen.

Raney, in filing his request, said he wasn't sure that anyone except top personnel in the department actually got pay raises.

Forty-five top administrators received the increase in their April 1 paychecks. Other employees were supposed to get more money in the April 1-15 pay period.

Raney switched from the Democratic Party to the Republican Party last month. He said he had been arguing with the Highway Department for some time over its road building policies.

"I have watched in dismay as highway funds have been misused to build 'political' roads while other needed roads go wanting," he said in his letter to Cockrill.

Raney said the Faubus administration apparently was attempting to minimize the controversy. He noted that Faubus said Thursday that the matter would die down within a week.

"This will not be forgotten in a week or so, as was mentioned," Cockrill told Raney. "We think there was secrecy and that it was planned. There will be no attempt (by the committee) to shove this thing aside."

in any way."

But Cockrill said he did not feel the committee could, as Raney requested, investigate such things as Highway Department policy in establishing priorities for road construction.

"As I understand it, we cannot question policy unless it involves the squandering of money," Cockrill said. "These salary raises, I understand, have been rescinded and public money is not an immediate jeopardy."

Raney charged in his letter that the administration "intends to foreclose meaningful debate on the salary matter."

"I imagine before it's over, they'll find someone to throw to the wolves," he said, suggesting that this would be Y.W. Welch, administrative assistant to the highway director.

Welch told newsmen Thursday that it was he who approached former Highway Director Mack Sturgis with the idea of implementing a special law to use federal funds as a lever for salary increases in the Highway Department.

He said he did this after discussing the matter with other employees, whom he would not identify.

Raney said in his letter that rescinding of the increases did not affect matters.

"The point is that an attempt was made by a handful of politicians, operating in secret, to line the pockets of a select few—disregarding the working man of the Highway Department," he said.

Raney said he felt an audit committee investigation was the only avenue to take at this time. "We need to clear up all this double-talk," he said. "We don't know who to blame with what."

He proposed an open hearing in which the Legislative Auditor, Orvel Johnson, would subpoena witnesses to testify.

Asked if he was satisfied with the answers Cockrill gave him, Raney said, "I wanted an immediate investigation before this thing cools off. But two weeks won't hurt. The people won't forget in two weeks."
